Go to: <https://payment2.works.com/works/session>

By selecting the Organization you want to get into, it directs you to the appropriate instance of Works. You'll see that your log in name is different for each, but your email address is the same, and you can have the same password on both systems if you choose. If a drop-down box isn't available next to Organization, by putting in your email address with the correct log in and password, you should get you into the correct system.

If you don't recall your password, click on 'Forgot Your Password'.
